This charming Georgian property (circa 1840) boasts a commanding central position in Swansea, on Tasmania's pristine East Coast. Tubby and Padman's has breathtaking views across Oyster Bay to the Freycinet Peninsula. We are within easy walking distance of quiet beaches, mouth-watering restaurants and galleries.

Indulge yourselves - relax in the privacy of your own heritage suite or modern apartment at Tubby and Padman's Swansea accommodation. Greg and Sue welcome you to their home. All accommodation types have private entrances.

Provisions for continental and/or full cooked breakfasts, are included to enjoy at your leisure.

The name 'Tubby and Padman' comes from the first owners, George Padman and Mrs Tubby (his mother-in-law). The property was built circa 1840 as a two-storey department store. It has been well documented that the top storey of the building was removed and placed somewhere in the structure of the Oyster Bay Inn.

Accommodation at this delightful Georgian property consists of heritage suites and modern apartments.
